BUILDING WILL BE REPAIRED AT ONCE

Central Pharmacal Company Suffers Heavy Damage in Stubborn Fire This Morning.

SEVERAL ROOMS FLOODED

Loss on Stock and Building Estimated at About $5,000 Fully Covered by Insurance.

Total destruction of the Central Pharmacal plant on West Second street was threatened by fire shortly after 9 o'clock this morning when flames were discovered leaping from the roof at the rear of the building. The fire originated between the ceiling of the second floor and the roof and gained considerable headway before the alarm was sounded. The discovery was made by employees of Sam Rittenhouse's saloon, adjoining the Pharmacal Company, and L. R. Fosgate, proprietor of the New Lynn Hotel, about the same time. The latter notified the fire department.

When the hose wagon left the fire station Chestnut street was blocked by a passing B. & O. Southwestern freight train and the wagon was driven to Indianapolis avenue but was compelled to remain there several minutes before the crossing was open. As soon as the firemen reached the burning building two lines of hoses were run and the water was soon turned on the flames.

Some difficulty was experienced in reaching the flames which were confined under the tin roof. It was first believed that the fire originated in the front part of the building but an examination by Chief Everhart showed that the flames were in the rear portion of the structure. Chief Everhart and Fireman John Fleeharty tore away a part of the tin roof and soon had the fire under control.

As soon as the flames were discovered Mr. Fosgate attempted to extinguish them with a small hand chemical but was unable to reach them and was driven back by the smoke. The smoke entered several rooms on the west side of the New Lynn building but the loss to Mr. Fosgate will be small.

The fire appeared to have started near a chimney in the rear of the building but its origin is unknown. The flue has not been in use for some time and it is probable that the fire started from a spark or from defective electrical wiring. Several electric light wires enter the building close to the point where the flames originated and may have become short circuited with an iron pipe.

The building is owned by Charles Leininger and he estimates his loss at about $500 fully covered by insurance. The Central Pharmacal Company suffered heavy damage from water and estimates that its loss to stock will amount to about $2,500. Henry Osterman, manager of the company, said it would require several days to figure up the exact loss on the stock.

Practically all of the crude drugs were water soaked and a total loss. The tablet mixing department in the front of the building was not damaged and only a small loss occurred in the analytical department. The books and records of M. E. Jennings, chemist, were saved. The machinery in the tablet manufacturing room was covered with water but was given prompt attention and it is not thought that the machinery was damaged.

In one department of the plant there is considerable alcohol and other highly inflammable liquids but fortunately the flames did not reach them. Several small containers of ether were taken to places of safety. Had these caught fire the loss would have doubtless been much heavier as the flames would have spread to all parts of the structure.

It will be necessary to place a new roof on the building, replaster most of the rooms and replace some of the damaged timbers in the roof. Insurance adjusters were notified as soon as the fire was extinguished and are expected here today.

Mr. Osterman stated today that the fire would interfere with their business for a few days but that some orders would be filled as usual. However, it will be a week or more before normal conditions are restored. A large number of the orders that were to be sent out today were destroyed in the fire.

Fire Alarm Sounded.

A fire alarm was sent in to the department about 9:30 o'clock Friday night from the residence of E. R. Dixon, on North Walnut street. The firemen found that the flue was burning out and that the property was not endangered. It was feared that the roof might catch fire from the flying sparks.

BURGLAR FORCES SAFE DOORS AND ESCAPES WITH ABOUT $90

No Clew is Found to Party Who Entered Office of Seymour Planing Mill Company.

The office of the Seymour Planing Mill Company, South Chestnut street, was entered Friday night and about $90 taken from the safe which was forced with a iron bar. The outer door of the safe was not locked with the combination and the burglar had little trouble in prying open the inside door. No tools were left and there is no clew to the guilty party.

It is believed that the robbery was committed about 11:45 o'clock as a clock on the wall was stopped at that hour. The clock will not run unless hanging in a certain position and it was slightly moved when the office was opened this morning. It is thought the money was taken by someone acquainted with the office as the cash was received after banking hours. Ordinarily no money is kept in the safe.

County Officers' Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Jackson County Sunday school officers Friday, Jan. 23 at the First National Bank. The purpose of this meeting will be to select a place for the County Convention of March 18 and 19 to be held.

Progressive Meeting.

The progressives of Jackson county held a meeting at Brownstown today for the purpose of reorganizing the county central committee.

The police have been unable to get a clew to the man who snatched the purse from the hands of Mrs. James Phillips Thursday night just as she was entering the gate at her home. Only a small amount in change and a door key were in the purse.

WARRANTS SERVED BY U. S. MARSHALS

Five Local Men Arrested by Federal Officers For Alleged Theft of Freight Merchandise.

BONDS READILY FURNISHED

Inter State Shipments Were Taken, It is Reported, From B. & O. Southwestern Cars.

As the result of the investigation by the railroad police department of alleged theft of merchandise from B. & O. Southwestern freight cars while standing temporarily in the local yards, five former employees of the company, all of whom live in this city, were arrested late Friday afternoon by United States Marshals Boyd and Rankin and were taken to New Albany where they appeared this morning before a United States Commissioner. Chief of Police Harvey L. McCord and Robert J. Barkley, a B. & O. S-W. detective, assisted the United States marshals in serving notice on the men and accompanied them to New Albany.

Affidavits were served on Al Robbins, Tip Rinehart, Charles Burke, Tom Phillips and James Welsh and all of them gave bond for their appearance before the federal grand jury at Indianapolis in May. The men were formerly employed in the car repair department of the local B. & O. Southwestern yards. They had no difficulty in giving bond and the bondsmen went to New Albany to sign the papers.

All of the men bear good reputations and there was much surprise over their arrests. Some of them have been in the employ of the company for years. They waived a hearing before the commissioners this morning and it is said that they will have some convincing evidence in their favor when the proper time comes for its presentation.

The arrests were made by United States officers as the goods that are alleged to have been stolen were interstate shipments. The affidavits charge the theft of interstate shipments while in transit over the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad. The cases can be brought up in federal court under a law that was enacted about a year ago.

While the railroad officials are giving out little information relative to the alleged thefts it is reported that merchandise has been taken frequently from freight cars for the last eighteen months and that the detectives expect to unearth a plot that will involve a large number of other persons. According to the reports the net is being wound around a number of other men who are not connected with the railroad and they will be taken in custody as soon as sufficient evidence is obtained.

The railroad detectives claim that for several months goods have been taken from freight cars and it is believed that they have been sold by a party who knew the articles were stolen. It is said that the men who have been arrested disclaim any knowledge of the alleged plan and that they had nothing whatever to do with it.

CIRCUIT COURT IS CLOSED FOR TERM

Charles H. Brock, of Freetown, Given Suspended Sentence of From One to Five Years.

FOR UTTERING FORGED CHECK

Several Other Cases Were Determined Before Judge Announced Adjournment.

The December term of the Jackson circuit court adjourned this afternoon and Judge Swails will go to Bedford Monday when the January term of the Lawrence circuit court will convene. Minor matters of business in connection with the closing of the term were transacted today by the attorneys.

Charles H. Brock who pleaded guilty to uttering a forged check in this city several days ago was given a suspended sentence of from one to five years today. He admitted his guilt to Judge Swails several days ago but the sentence was withheld until the close of the term.

Addison Adair, of Louisville, who was held in the county jail for one hundred and six days on charges of seduction and larceny, was released Friday after both charges were dismissed on the motion of the prosecutor. Written reasons for dismissing the case were filed and stated that the prosecuting witness could not be located and that a conviction was impossible without such testimony. Adair was arrested at Louisville and one charge was filed against him for the alleged theft of a small savings bank from the Jackson County Loan & Trust Company.

The case of the State against William Goss, charged with child desertion, was also dismissed, the prosecuting attorney filing a statement that he had paid $225 for the support of his child and that since the affidavit was filed his wife had been granted a divorce.

By agreement the case of Arsenoe Umbright against Rufus Phillips, et al., for damages, was settled out of court, the plaintiff receiving $100. The plaintiff is the owner of a building on East Second street and it is alleged that the structure was damaged by certain changes made while the building was rented to the defendants.

The suit to foreclose a mortgage held by the Seymour Planing Mill Company against Samuel Nicholson, et al., was decided in favor of the plaintiff for $1,574.49. The judgment included the real estate only, as the Stanfield-Carlson Company was allowed $31.45 on a mechanics lien held on a barn. J. M. Hamer Company was given a junior second lien for $68.60 on the real estate.

Judge Swails will hold juvenile court in this city this afternoon and will hear the evidence in the case against the Hayes brothers, aged nine and thirteen years, who are charged with larceny.

WELL KNOWN PHYSICIAN RECEIVES LAST SUMMONS

Dr. G. O. Barnes, Aged 74 Years, Passed Away Friday Night After Ten Days' Illness.

Dr. George Oliver Barnes, a well known physician of this city, died Friday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at his home on West Fourth street after an illness of ten days. He was seventy-four years of age.

Dr. Barnes was born February 5, 1840 on a farm in Jennings County, Indiana. He was the third son of Woodford and Elizabeth Barnes.

Dr. Barnes was educated in the common schools, read medicine with Dr. W. C. A. Bain, attended lectures at Ann Arbor in 1864 and 1865, and in 1866 he attended a course of lectures at Miami College, Cincinnati, Ohio, finally taking his degree from Miami College in 1876. He began the practice of medicine at Cortland, Indiana, in 1866 and remained there until he moved to Seymour a few years ago. Since moving to Seymour he practiced medicine from his late residence on West Fourth street.

Dr. Barnes was secretary of the Jackson County Board of Health for one term, and for eight years prior to his death had been a member of the City Board of Health of this city.

He united with the Methodist church in his boyhood days and continued a communicant of that church until 1886 when he united with the Baptist church and at the time of his death was a member of the Baptist church in this city. He was made a Mason in 1876 and so continued until the time of his death. He was also a charter member of the Cortland Lodge K. of P. since 1890, and a charter member of the Patrons of Husbandry since 1878. He was for many years an active member and regular attendant of the Jackson County Medical Society, having served as its President and always took great interest in its sessions. He was married twice; first to Mrs. Emma S. Wiltson in 1870 who died in 1890. On September 17, 1895 he was united in marriage to Miss Isabelle Stephens of Louisville, Kentucky, who survives him. Besides the widow he leaves two brothers surviving, Jethero T. Barnes and William D. Barnes, both of Seymour.

Dr. Barnes was at all times a faithful and consistent friend, and a faithful and enthusiastic member of the several fraternal organizations to which he belonged. His acquaintance was large and his friendships strong and numerous.

The funeral will be in charge of Jackson Lodge F. & A. M. and will be held at the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock p. m. Sunday, January 18. Interment at Riverview cemetery.

VOLCANO IN JAPAN IS ACTIVE AGAIN

Buildings Destroyed by Earthquake Which Accompanied Another Violent Eruption.

PEOPLE FLEE TO SAFETY

Suns Appears as Great Ball of Blood and Portion of Island is Enveloped in Darkness.

Kagoshima, Japan, January 17.—Two further violent eruptions of the volcano Sakura-Jima, accompanied by a severe earthquake, occurred late last night, causing the collapse of many more buildings. Numbers of the inhabitants of Kagoshima who had returned fled again in terror from the city. Ashes were falling thickly today.

Professor Omori, the Japanese seismologist, who came here from Tokio, circled the island of Sakura today and found a pronounced physical change. Huge molten rocks formed a range into the sea, practically blocking the bay across to Osumi.

The sun looked like a ball of blood over Kagoshima today but it gave no light and darkness was such that night signals had to be employed on the railroads. The flying dust was so thick that the few pedestrians in the street making their way to the outskirts of the city had to cover their mouths and noses with towels and handkerchiefs to prevent suffocation.

The sea in the gulf of Kagoshima seemed to be boiling and the quantity of floating pumice stone was so great that it prevented navigation.

Many dwellings remain in perfect condition on the northern coast, but on the devastated eastern coast ashes and lava reach to the eaves of the houses. Many new hills have sprung into existence.

The professor saw a woman on the shore, but when he spoke to her she fled wildly into the interior. She was undoubtedly insane. Horses and cattle, dogs and cats swarmed in the vicinity on one damaged house he saw.

The new craters formed on Sakura-Jima were still pouring volumes of smoke in the direction of Osumi. About seven-tenths of the island is a desert of lava and the remaining land is in such a hopeless condition that it must be abandoned.

Charles Hazzard received a message Friday evening from Dallas, Texas stating the serious illness of his sister, Miss Ota Hazzard, who formerly lived in Seymour before she moved to Texas. A second message this morning stated that her condition was critical and her recovery was doubtful.

Word has been received here that an infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Clouse, died Jan. 13 at their home in Arkansas. They formerly lived at Reddington.

WEARY MARCH OF WORN MEXICANS

Little Semblance to Military in Tattered Procession.

FILING ACROSS THE PLAINS

It Will Be Several Days Before the Wretched Remnant of Huerta's Forces, Refugees From Ojinaga, Will Be Able to Reach the Internment Provided by the United States Army For Their Detention at El Paso.

Shafter, Tex., Jan. 17.—The Mexican federal prisoners from Ojinaga spent last night here, twenty-two miles from the border of Mexico, on their way to El Paso. They left Presidio, to which point in Texas they fled from Ojinaga last Saturday night, early yesterday. Three more days will be required to march to Marfa, where trains will be taken for El Paso for the internment camp. The prisoners are guarded by six troops of United States cavalry on their march across the plains and through mountains to the railroad. There was little semblance of the military in the procession that filed across the plains.

At the head of the procession of prisoners rode the six federal generals, Castro, Orpinel, Landa, Romero and Aduna, and they were followed by the tattered soldiers of their defeated army. If the crowd ever had been an army, it has no semblance of its military bearing now. It is a bundle of docile men, women and children doing what they are told and waiting the outcome with stoical indifference.

Occasionally the uniform of a gorgeous officer suggested the love of the military character of an organization, but the officers were rare and military discipline, if it had ever existed, had been left on the hills of Ojinaga.

Dust arose like a mist over the first mile of the route, the level stretch of valley that leads to rising ground. Through this the cavalry escort led the way. Out from the white adobe building that serves for military headquarters, along a road with dust holes a foot deep, the procession moved toward the hills. Many a backward glance was cast. In the foreground was the American camp and the Rio Grande valley. Across the river, peaceful in the sun, sat Ojinaga, the fortifications that had fallen. Then the column drew further on and soon even the white walls of the houses on the American side merged with the dusty, treeless plain.

Despite the reports of suffering, the women and children for the most part wandered along easily. Soon the procession mounted, by a crooked, winding road, into the mountains. The Mexican consulate at Marfa still has crepe on the door for the consul who went hunting to his death down in one of these perilous places not many days ago. But the line passed on safely. It went by a spot marked by a little pile of stones holding up a rude little wooden cross. That is the spot where a man had been killed. Many crossed themselves piously as they passed. "Proberceto," (poor fellow) said the women.

Once in a while a soldier began to stagger. A woman would slide from a poor old horse and the man would ride. A tattered soldier, recovering from wounds, occasionally dropped beside the road, but the procession did not stop. He was bundled into one of the wagons and hurried along. Occasionally the strain of a half Spanish, half savage song would break from the lips of one of the more buoyant spirits in the column, taken up by another and another until it reached down the entire line of tattered men and women. It was a typical march of a typical Mexican army.

ALL HOPE NOW ABANDONED

Crew of Sunken British Submarine Undoubtedly Dead.

Plymouth, Jan. 17.—The submarine A7, with sixteen officers and men on board, failed to come to the surface after a dive to the bottom of White Sand bay during maneuvers yesterday, and all on board are undoubtedly dead. Salvage vessels searched for the A7, but failed to locate it.

The submarines of the A class are supposed to carry enough air to enable them to remain under water from seven to twelve hours. As the A7 dived about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, the survival of any of the crew cannot be hoped for. The submarine sank in about 100 feet of water.

Two officers, a sub-officer, eight seamen and a number of engineers and stokers made up the sixteen men on the vessel when she went down. It is understood that the submarine was equipped with air locks and safety helmets. For this reason it is the general theory that the crew was overcome by gas. It is possible that the boat was uncontrollable when she sank, through the ballast tank and pump not acting. This would make it impossible to empty the tanks when the vessel tried to rise. Another theory is that the nose of the submarine struck the mud at the bottom of the bay.

Nearly 10,000 dogs were killed last year in Chicago's city pound, according to a report made to the police department.

THE FIRST REPORTS MUCH EXAGGERATED

Death List In Japanese Disaster Greatly Reduced.

Tokio, Jan. 17.—That the damage at Kagoshima was not very great it has now been ascertained. Whatever casualties occurred were due to the collapse of the stone walls or during the panic-stricken rush for safety. The volcanic ashes cover the whole of the town to a depth of three feet. The town is almost entirely deserted, as the inhabitants fear a renewal of the earthquake. Indeed, the appearance of new craters in Sakurashima suggests the possibility of the complete disintegration of the mountain, which might lead to another inundation of Kagoshima.

The dispatch says that while the island of Sakura has been devastated and all the animals burned, there is no reason to believe that the death toll exceeds 200, as most of the villagers had sufficient time to escape. It is officially announced that at Kagoshima there were only ten killed and seventeen injured.

New Start For Beiliss.

Lakeville's Second Fire Loss.

Lakeville, Ind., Jan. 17.—Fire destroyed practically every business block in this town. The loss is estimated at $8,000 or $10,000. Lakeville's two or three business buildings were only recently reconstructed after a similar fire a few months ago.

WRETCHED HOME HELD AS CASTLE

Beardsley Still Defies the Whole County.

CHILDREN HIS PROTECTORS

Chautauqua County (New York) Farmer For Nearly a Week Has Been Besieged in His Dilapidated Home Resisting All Efforts of the Authorities to Get Possession of His Nine Impoverished Children.

Jamestown, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Inside his little frame house on the hill near Summerdale, Edward Beardsley still is safe, all efforts to lure him from his citadel having proved futile. At the suggestion of Sheriff Anderson, Tom Vancisco and Bill Walker of Mayville, two cronies of Beardsley, approached him and offered him a rig in which he could escape. The scheme did not work. Beardsley laughed at them and told them he guessed he would not take any chances of being caught that way.

"Let us take your children," urged Walker.

"Not much," said Beardsley, "they are my protectors now."

The sheriff then commenced developing another scheme. The first move was to block the country roads, so no one could pass the Beardsley house. That was accomplished by placing a stalwart deputy sheriff on the highway on each side with orders to let no one pass. These orders have been obeyed to the letter. By keeping the crowd away from sight of the house, the sheriff hopes to make Beardsley think he is forgotten.

A messenger has been sent to James Beardsley of Titusville, Pa., a brother of the outlaw, to see if he will consent to take Beardsley's nine children. Beardsley told the sheriff he would surrender if his brother would take the children away.

"But," he said, "I'll never let the Chautauqua county authorities have them. I'll fight just as long as I can. Beardsley for nearly a week has resisted the efforts of the county authorities to get possession of his impoverished children.

The farmhouse is as silent as the grave. There are no signs of the deputies, who are hidden at a distance, and save for the sheriff's patrol a mile distant, one could pass over the lonely road without knowing that the dilapidated farmhouse sheltered an undersized man who for nearly a week has successfully defied the county authorities.

John G. W. Putnam, overseer of the poor, who was shot by Beardsley, is in the hospital, recovering from an operation. The physicians in attendance say there is a chance for recovery.

When Putnam visited the house Monday he carried some provisions, but it is known they must surely have been exhausted, with ten persons to feed. Sheriff Anderson said he realized that the suffering of the children and Beardsley's sister-in-law, who is in the house with him, must be terrible, but declared he could not see how it was to be averted.

HELD ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Prominent Evansville Physician Is Charged With Insurance Fraud.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 17.—Dr. Will Gilbert has been arrested charged with arson in connection with the burning last year of the Gilbert memorial sanatorium. He was released on bond of $1,500.

Dr. Gilbert is one of the best-known physicians and surgeons in southern Indiana. The warrant on which he was arrested was preferred by the state fire marshal. The old Gilbert hospital was abandoned when Dr. Gilbert built his new hospital. There was $15,000 insurance on the building.

South Bend Cleaning Up.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 17.—The sale and drinking of intoxicating liquors in dance halls of South Bend must cease. An order to this effect was issued by the board of safety, which also directed the chief to see that all resorts in the city are eliminated within thirty days, and that all wineries be put out of commission.

Murderous Robbers Hold Up Resort.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 17.—Three young men shot and killed Harry E. Nickell, railroad teller of the Omaha National bank, seriously wounded an unidentified man, robbed a dozen persons and escaped with money and jewels worth $8,000. The murder and robbery occurred in a resort.

Arrested on Forgery Charge.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

VILLA IS PURSUING PRESENT ADVANTAGERebel Victor Pressing the March South.

Chihuahua, Mexico, Jan. 16.—Continuing his campaign south against the federals now occupying Torreon, Pancho Villa will lose no time. His men on their return here from their successful campaign made in Ojinaga, will hardly pause in Chihuahua. Some will not even come through here. Villa learns that the federals are in a state of fright and means to press the fight at once.

Villa is expected to reach Chihuahua today. He is reported nearing Falomier with 500 men. Major R. L. Fierro, chief of the rebel train service, left Chihuahua for Falomier to supervise the loading of the troops at that place. The advance guard of Villa's army from Ojinaga, it is reported, is nearing Chihuahua.

Federal officers in Torreon have pitched their camp in the railway yards, where a number of trains are always ready to leave at a moment's notice when the rebels attack.

We do "Printing that Pleases."

A TRUE STORY.

A certain razor has built up a large sale and a National reputation through newspaper advertising. It has been sold at a fixed price and the public has come to regard it as well worth the price asked.

Following last Spring's decision of the Supreme Court some dealers began cutting the price of this particular article—using it as an advertisement.

Now, curiously enough, not a few of the price-cutting stores found they sold fewer of these razors at a cut price than before. On the other hand, stores that maintained the price found an increased demand.

"People want to know what is wrong with it when we offer this article at a cut price," one storekeeper told the writer.

It was true that the splendid newspaper advertising coupled with the fact that it was a good article had practically standardized the price in the minds of the public.

There is food for thought in this situation for other manufacturers.

Perhaps you would like some suggestions. Write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

A Message to You, Kind Friend
Don't be a Hold-back

The world is growing better every day. But the men and women who deny this fact are hold-backs to its progress. However, those who bewail our abandonment of old standards in matters social, political and medical would prefer to live today rather than yesterday.

There have been hold-backs in every age since the world's first day. They are obstacles in the path of human progress. Mind you, it is the individual who refuses to accept new truths who is the least benefitted by them.

The first condition of success is an honest receptivity and a willingness to abandon all preconceived notions, however cherished, if they be found to contradict the truth. The history of all great truths shows them to have struggled through a period of determined opposition to their reception.

Only the better things permanently survive. Hence, Osteopathy has stood the test of searching investigation and has been weighed in the balance until the truth that it is Nature's best way to health shines forth with a light so convincing that its acceptance can no longer be resisted by the world of science and the world of pain.

Don't condemn new ideas simply because they differ radically from your present notions. Hold-backs are destined to stand still, though the world moves on. Life is a process of growth, and short sighted indeed is he who cannot observe the world's progress evidenced all about him. No man can be successful in health-getting, the same as in money-getting, who stands before the door of opportunity and fears to enter because of some new conditions that may meet him there.

Many sick people fail to regain health because they cleave to old traditions and superstitions. Thus they grope in the dark and refuse to accept Osteopathy as Nature's own hand-maid to health because it is new to them. They forget that our ancestors were not wiser than we and that old customs, old habits and old modes of life are giving way to new and better things.

You cannot live in the next century, but you can take advantage of the generous and good health that comes from Osteopathy, properly applied, if you will throw off the shackles of blind faith in old dogmas and decadent methods that have failed to keep step with modern progress.

Hold-backs will say impulsively they do not believe in Osteopathy. How can they believe or disbelieve without a knowledge of that which is to be believed. To disapprove without investigation is to act on ignorance and prejudice. Suppose you look into the merits of Osteopathy and give it a trial at the Spaulhurst Osteopathic Offices, 14 W. Second St., Seymour.

Like all other great truths, Osteopathy has had to run the gauntlet of ignorance and prejudice before it was allowed to declare its usefulness to mankind. It courts investigation and will stand the test and prove the best. To deny the efficacy of Osteopathic treatment as exemplified by the Spaulhurst Osteopaths in this community upon patients who have tried every other known remedy, would be as absurd as the juror's statement that he disagreed with the facts.

If you are struggling to get well and not improving under present treatment, do not be held back in the throes of misery by foolish prejudice and skepticism, but grasp the opportunity that Osteopathy offers you to get well and to keep well.

PROHIBITIONS ELECTED COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Delegates Are Also Selected for State Convention at Indianapolis in June.

The reorganization of the Jackson county prohibition central committee was completed Friday afternoon at the county convention held at the Christian church.

The officers elected were:
Chairman—Rev. E. L. Pettus.
Secretary—Frank Teckemeyer.
Treasurer—G. A. Berdon.

The following were elected to represent the county in the state convention at Indianapolis June 2 and 3. Rev. H. C. Pierson, Mrs. S. E. Enos, Rev. E. L. Pettus, Mrs. M. C. Carpenter, Dr. M. F. Gerrish, Seymour, A. M. Benham, Crothersville, and William H. Peters, Vallonia.

The alternates chosen were Edward E. Conway, Albert Walters, Dr. C. A. Hunter, Mrs. C. R. Hoffmann, Loving Collings, Rev. M. T. Brandyberry and Frank Teckemeyer.

In the evening State Chairman J. Raymond Schmidt addressed a mass meeting in the Christian church. Mr. Schmidt made many friends while located here as District Vice-chairman of the party two years ago and they were not disappointed in his original method of diagnosing the present anti-liquor situation. In the course of his remarks Mr. Schmidt said: "The Prohibition Party believes in the constitutional amendment plan of securing national prohibition, but goes a step farther in declaring for the election of a friendly administration to enforce the organic law of the land. More than 'ink on paper' is required to get effective prohibition, it takes a 'big stick.' Some say that the constitutional amendment plan removes the liquor question from politics. Nothing however is farther from the actual fact than this statement. The liquor traffic is deeply rooted in the sub-soil of American politics; retains its power by 'eternal vigilance' in the bi-annual battle of ballots and with its millions of money and henchmen will defy to the last stand the organized forces of righteousness.

"Recognizing that the political party in power is the government in operation," our only hope lies in uniting at the ballot box and electing an administration to make effective prohibition, whether it be constitutional or statutory."

LIBERAL WHEAT RECEIPTS REPORTED FOR THE WEEK

Unusual Movement Promises to Continue as Long as Roads and Weather Are Favorable.

Wheat receipts at the local dumps have been quite liberal for the current week. Since Monday morning the Blish Mills have taken in 19,000 bushels of wagon wheat, representing over $18,000 to be distributed among local farmers. The quality of the receipts has also been exceptionally good, very little of it testing below 60 pounds, while a great deal of it ran as high as 62 pounds to the bushel. The movement does not seem to be over as yet, but will doubtless hold as long as the roads are fine and the price of 95c per bushel keeps good.

The record two-horse load was brought in this morning from the J. B. Thompson farm, "touching the beam" at exactly one hundred bushels besides showing the extra fine test of 62 lbs to the bushel.

WHAT 1914 MAN WILL LOOK LIKE

Designers' Decree Is That His Clothes Fit Tight.

RADICAL CHANGES COMING

Even the Conventional Dress Suit Is to Undergo Transformation — Overcoats For Next Fall Will Be Startling Horse Blanket Creations With Wild Designs.

Mere man is about to undergo a radical transformation in his style of clothes. It has all been arranged for by the National Association of Designers of men's wearing apparel. That body of sartorial experts in convention assembled at Baltimore this month, after due and weighty deliberation, arrived at some interesting conclusions. The one conclusion of these arbiters of man's fashions which stands out above all others is that suits must be tight fitting. Just as little cloth as possible will be used to frame the manly figure. It is not exaggerating to say that the suits of mere man, 1914 model, will cling to his form like tights to the pony ballet.

Artificial Shoulders to Go. "Clothes au naturel"—that's the final dictum of the designers. Away with padding that tricks the eye. A man to be in fashion will have to stand or fall in his little tight suit and the shoulders that nature has given him.

But there's one saving grace about the tight suits which the designers have decreed. The feelings of the tall, thin man and the short, fat man will be spared to the extent that he can choose quiet color effects and meet with fashion's demand in that respect; in fact, there is to be a decided leaning toward sober shades of cloth.

But the overcoats to be worn next fall will make up for the quiet tones of the suits. Wild designs are to run riot in overcoats in horse blanket effects and with batwing sleeves on the kimono order. They will have wide lapels extending away down the front and strap loops through which to thrust the arms.

In their determination to envelop man in the smallest possible amount of cloth the designers have even extended their activities to the sacred dress suit. That, too, has been abbreviated. It is short and form fitting. The designers have imposed an edging more than an inch wide on the lapel, practically dividing the lapel with a line of galune.

Here is the official rendering of the innovation: "Grosgrain facing an inch and a quarter wide, piped with three-sixteenth inch silk galune." The burtons are of black polished ivory.

Another model has jet buttons with grosgrain facing on the lapel and edging of galune.

HORSESHOEING AT CORNELL.

Farriers Will Be Taught Higher Principles of the Trade.

A course in horseshoeing is an innovation announced by the trustees of Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y. All horseshoers of the state are invited to enter without charge.

The course will be given by the farrier's department of the State College of Veterinaries. The last legislature made an appropriation for equipment.

"The purpose," said Director Moore, "is to offer horseshoers an opportunity to acquire a more thorough knowledge of the principles of horseshoeing. Besides setting shoes it is important that these men should be familiar with the anatomy and physiology of the horse's foot and the danger of certain infections, such as tetanus or lockjaw.

"One hour each day will be given to lectures and the rest of the time to practical work in the shop. The course will run for six weeks, and if there is a demand for it it will be repeated."

SANTO DOMINGO SAID TO BE ON BRINK OF REVOLT

Letters Tell of Slaughter of Patriots and Reign of Terror.

Late advices from Santo Domingo received from private but well informed sources, supported by newspaper accounts, indicate, says the New York Herald, that another revolution is brewing in the Dominican Republic, with every prospect of early development. According to these letters, many of the best citizens are leaving the country, while others known to oppose the administration of President Bordas are prisoners in the fortresses in Santo Domingo city and Puerto Plata. Dominicans recently arrived from Santo Domingo say a state of terror exists.

President Bordas' summary removal of Supreme Justice Figueroa on Dec. 13 and his appointment of a successor objectionable to the lawyers of Santo Domingo have precipitated trouble, as lawyers refused to plead their causes before this justice, the result being a general stagnation of business of the tribunal.

Letters to Dominicans in New York give unpublished details of what is called a "massacre of patriots," which occurred in Santo Domingo city on Dec. 2, but regarding which the newspapers were permitted by the administration to publish only the barest accounts.

"We had gone 300 strong to the palace to insist upon free elections, which had been guaranteed to us by the constitution," wrote one correspondent. "President Bordas' address was received in ominous silence. While we were considering the president's ultimatum and a speaker was addressing the crowd the gates of the fortress opened and a regiment of troops issued therefrom. The presence of the troops was scarcely known until we were surrounded."

"Surrender!" shouted the officer in command.

"The crowd turned upon the soldiers, and their spokesman assured the commanding officer that they were in peaceful assembly, but suddenly from the outskirts of the crowd came the cry, 'Down with Bordas and the troops!' The officer gave the order to fire without further parley. Eleven men, all belonging to influential families, were killed instantly, while nineteen were severely wounded."

Winter Reverie

I saw the moon so broad and bright
Sailing high on a frosty night,
And the air swung far and far between
The silver disk and the orb of green,
And here and there a wisp of white
Cloud film swam on the misty light,
And crusted thickly on the sky,
Higher and higher and yet more high,
Were gold star points dusted through
The great, wide, silent vault of blue.
Then I bethought me God was great
And the world was fair, and so, late,
I knelt me down and bent my head
And said my prayers and went to bed

LEGAL CONTENTION IN CASE OF HARRY THAW

Attorney General Carmody Attacks Federal Court.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17.—In his annual report to the legislature, Attorney General Carmody gives his views in support of his contention that United States District Court Judge Edgar A. Aldrich of New Hampshire is without legal authority to entertain the proceedings instituted to prevent the return of Harry K. Thaw to New York state.

Mr. Carmody holds that the only question which is reviewable by Judge Aldrich is whether or not the extradition papers signed by Governor Feltner of New Hampshire, ordering Thaw's return to this state are regular and in legal form. Mr. Carmody contends that the federal authorities cannot legally go into the question of Thaw's mental condition.

Thaw Gets Setback.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 17.—Consideration of the question of admitting Harry K. Thaw to bail in the United States district court has been postponed until the general habeas corpus hearing is held. Judge Edgar A. Aldrich's order is a defeat for the Thaw attorneys, who believed the fugitive would be admitted to bail within a week. As Attorney General Carmody has already filed the brief for New York state, it is believed that the hearing on the main case and also on the matter of bail will be held in February.

CORDIA MARTIN IS GUILTY

Took Jury Only Ten Minutes to Return a Verdict.

Greenfield, Ind., Jan. 17.—After retiring for ten minutes the jury in the trial of Cordia Martin on the charge of burglarizing the New Palestine bank brought in a verdict of guilty, Martin receiving a sentence of from ten to twenty years.

Martin on the stand admitted planning the robbery, but said the entire plans were executed by Van Derry. He told a story very similar to the testimony of Derry, only putting Derry into the initiative.

Martin further stated that Derry gave him between $1,000 and $1,200 hush money. On cross-examination he admitted taking part in a number of minor robberies in this city and Knightstown.

The Grimes Murder Case.

Madison, Ind., Jan. 17.—Efforts to prove a son's hatred of his father and that he made threats against the latter's life have been made by the prosecution in the trial of Harold Grimes, aged seventeen, charged with the murder of his father. The state has also tried to show that the father's alleged objection to the son keeping company with a young woman caused trouble between the two.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 17.—An unsuccessful attempt to escape from the Indiana reformatory was made and as a result Julius Purrier, a negro, aged twenty-one, is lying in a hospital with possibly a broken back following a jump from the top of a thirty-six-foot wall. He weighs 205 pounds, and lay helpless until officers carried him to the hospital.

FLIGHT INTERRUPTED BY DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Two Mexican Generals Taken at Sanderson, Tex.

Sanderson, Tex., Jan. 17.—Refugees from Ojinaga, General Ynez Salazar and General Antonio Rojas of the Mexican federal army, were taken into custody here on an eastbound passenger train, by deputy sheriffs. When arrested they were in a drawing room of a Pullman playing cards in company with two other Mexicans. The latter were not arrested.

The generals admitted their identity and said that they crossed to the north side of the river last Saturday night at Presidio, Tex., across from Ojinaga, and had made their way through the line of United States soldiers, on through the hills to Marfa, Tex., without apprehension, and boarded the train at the latter place. They stated they were on their way to Eagle Pass to join their forces. When asked where Orozco was, Salazar said: "Quien sabe? I think he was killed in the battle of Ojinaga."

But his expression belied the truth of this statement, and the same train from which Salazar was taken is being watched all along the route for Orozco.

When asked whether he would rather be in the hands of the United States or Villa, knowing that the United States has charges against him for violation of neutrality laws, he said: "I would rather risk my fate with the United States."

He was lodged in jail by the local authorities to await the arrival of United States federal officers, who will take him charge. He will be taken to Marfa to face an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the United States neutrality laws in the smuggling of arms into Mexico at the time he was a rebel against Madero. Salazar was in the field against Madero at the time he then president of Mexico was assassinated, and he at once joined the forces of Huerta and has been a federal general since that time.

GOING TO THE BOTTOM OF IT

Special Prosecutor at Terre Haute Probing Corruption Charges.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 17.—Joseph Roach, special prosecutor, says he is in earnest in trying to get indictments and convictions for political and election corruption in the last two years. He says the evidence is at hand. The exposure is to be complete and that it remains for the community to decide whether it wishes to connive at the crimes about which so much has been said and which has given the city a bad name.

"I am determined to make this a fight to the finish," he said. "I may not have much ability, and perhaps not much reputation to back up a moral reform movement, but I am going to the bottom of this thing."

Roach's reference to his reputation was in almost pathetic tones, for he meant his record as a convicted murderer. He was sentenced for life, but pardoned by Governor Marshall on a showing that he was to lead a useful life.

That City Attorney Charles S. Batt attempted to "tamper" with a member of the special grand jury impaneled to investigate charges of election frauds and corruption was the direct accusation made by Charles Hamilton, a member of the grand jury. According to Mr. Hamilton's charge, Batt went to Riley township and consulted Joseph Graham, township trustee, and urged Graham to become the "go between" in reaching Hamilton.

Suddenly Overtaken by Death.

New York, Jan. 16.—Henry Walton Griffith, an assistant secretary of the Norfolk and Western railroad, with offices in Philadelphia, died suddenly of heart trouble in the sexton's room of All Saints church last night. The choir of the church was holding a rehearsal in the parish house, adjoining the church, and it is supposed that Griffith was attracted to the church by hearing the music as he was passing.

CHAPTER XX.

A Plot and a Sacrifice.

THE night had been as hard for Edith Cortlandt as it had been for Kirk, but during its sleepless hours she had reached a determination. She was not naturally revengeful, but it was characteristic of her that she could not endure failure. Action, not words or tears, was the natural outlet of her feelings. There was just one possible way of winning Kirk back, and if instead of winning him she would be only undoing what she had mistakenly done. As soon after breakfast as she knew definitely that her husband had gone out she telephoned to General Alfarez, making an appointment to call on him at 11. She knew the crafty old Spaniard would be awaiting her with eagerness.

Her interview with him was short, however, and when she emerged from his house she ordered the coachman to drive directly to the Garavel bank. This time she stayed longer, closeted with the proprietor. What she told him threw him into something like a panic. It seemed that Anibal Alfarez was by no means so well reconciled to the death of his political hopes as had been supposed. On the contrary, in spite of all that had been done to prevent it, he had been working secretly and had perfected the preliminaries of a coup which he intended to spring at the eleventh hour. Through Ramon he had brought about an alliance with the outgoing Gallego, and intended to make the bitterest possible fight against Garavel. Such joining of forces meant serious trouble, and until the banker's position was materially strengthened it would be most unwise to announce his candidacy as had been planned. She did not go into minute details. There was no need, for the banker's fears took fire at the mere fact that Alfarez had revolted. He was dumfounded, appalled.

"Ramon is partly to blame. He is just as proud as you or as his father," said Mrs. Cortlandt. "When he heard of your daughter's engagement to our friend Anthony—" "Ah, now I see it all!" His face darkened. "So, this is my reward for heeding your advice in regard to Gertrudis. She should have wed Ramon, as was intended, then I would have had a lever with which to lift his father from my path. Very well, then, there is no engagement with this Anthony. It may not be too late even yet to capture Ramon."

"The city is already talking about Gertrudis and Kirk."

"No word has been spoken, no promise given. There is not even an understanding. Do you suppose I would allow my great ambition to be thwarted by the whim of a girl, to be upset by a stranger's smile? Bah! At their age I loved a dozen. I could not survive without them." He snapped his fingers. "Come, we will see my friend Anibal at once."

But Mrs. Cortlandt checked him, saying quietly:

"That is all right as far as it goes, but you forget the other young man."

"Eh? How so? Gertrudis will not marry this Anthony."

"Perhaps she loves him."

"Love is a fancy, a something seen through a distant haze, an illusion which vanishes with the sun. In a month, in a year, she will have forgotten; but with me it is different. This is my life's climax; there will be no other."

"But how will you handle Anthony?"

Garavel looked at her blankly. "He is in my way. He is ended! Is not that all?"

"I am glad you are practical; so many of you Latin-Americans are absurdly romantic."

"And why should I not be practical? I am a business man. I love but two things, madame—no, three, my daughter, my success and my country. By this course I will serve all three."

"Since you take this view of it, I am sure that with Ramon's help we can dissuade Don Anibal from his course. The general is sensible and doesn't want a fight any more than you do. If your daughter will consent—"

"My dear lady, give yourself no uneasiness. She does not know the meaning of rebellion."

"Then let me look up Ramon. He and I will approach the general together." She gave him her neatly gloved hand. "Things are never so bad as they seem."

That afternoon Kirk received a formal communication from the banker which filled him with dismay. It ran:

My Dear Mr. Anthony—To my extreme distress, I hear a rumor that Gertrudis is to become your wife. I assure you that neither she nor I blame you in the least for this unfortunate report, but since busy tongues will wag upon the slightest excess, we feel it best that no further occasion for gossip should be given. I am sure you will co-operate with us. Sincerely and respectfully your friend,

ANDRES GARAVEL.

A sense of betrayal crept over him as he read. What the letter signified, beyond the fact that Mr. Garavel had changed his mind, he could not make out, and he resolved to go at once and demand an explanation. But at the bank he was told that the proprietor had gone home, and he drove to the house only to learn that Senor Garavel and his daughter had left for Las Savannas not half an hour before. So back through the city he urged his driver, across the bridge and out along the country road.

Darkness had settled when he returned, raging at the trickery that had been practiced upon him. If they thought to gain their point by sending him on wild goose chases like this they were greatly mistaken. He proposed to have Chiquita now, if he had to burst his way to her through barred doors. He had yielded to their left handed customs out of courtesy. It was time now to show his strength.

What folly he might have committed it is hard to tell, but he was prevented from putting any extravagant plan into operation by a message from the girl herself.

As he dismissed his coachman and turned toward his quarters Stephanie came to him out of the shadows.

"Chiquita is at the house. She wants to see you."

"Of course she does. I knew this wasn't any of her doing. I've been hunting everywhere for her."

"At 9 o'clock she will be in the Plaza. You know the dark place across from the church? If we do not come wait."

Long before the appointed time Kirk was at the place of meeting, but scarcely had the city chimes rung out 9 when he saw two women emerge from the dark side street next the Garavel mansion and come swiftly toward him.

He refrained from rushing out to meet them, but when they were close to his place of concealment he stepped forward, with Chiquita's name upon his lips and his arms outstretched. She drew away.

"No, no, senor," she cried. "I sent for you because there was no other way, that is all. My father would not let you come to the house. You will not think me bold?"

"Of course not."

"I could not let you go until you knew the truth. You do not believe it was my fault?"

"I don't know what to believe, because I don't know what has happened. All I know is that I got a note from your father. But no matter what it is I'll never give you up," he declared stubbornly.

"Ah, I feared you would say those very words, but you must do it, just the same. It will be hard for us both, I know, but—" She choked and shook her head as the words refused to come.

"Tell me first why I must give you up?"

"Because in spite of all I am to marry Ramon," Gertrudis said wretchedly.

"Who said so?"

"My father. He has forbidden me to think of you and ordered that I marry Ramon. Sick or well, living or dead, I must marry him."

"I'm hanged if you do!"

"It is those miserable politics again. If I do not obey, my father cannot be president, do you see? Senor Alfarez is terribly angry that I refused to marry his son, to whom since I was a little child I have been engaged. Ramon also is furious; he threatened to kill himself. So it comes to this. If I will not bind myself to the agreement, Senor Alfarez will contest the election. I do not know how you say those things, but my father will be defeated. Perhaps he will be humiliated."

"I won't stand for it. They're making you a sacrifice, that's all. What kind of a father is it who would sell his daughter?"

"No, no! You do not understand. He is proud; he cannot accept defeat; he would rather give his life than be humiliated. Furthermore, he wishes me to marry Ramon, and so that ends it." Her lips were trembling as she peered up at him to see if he really understood.

"Let them rave, dear. What does it matter who is president? What does anything matter to you and me?"

"He says I am too young to know my own mind, and—perhaps that is true, Senor Antonio; perhaps I shall soon forget you and learn to love Ramon as he loves me. I do not know."

In spite of the pathetic quaver in her voice, Kirk cried with jealous bitterness:

"You don't seem to object very strongly; you seem to care about as much for Alfarez as you do for me. Is that it?"

"Yes, senor," she said bravely. "You are lying!" declared Stephanie, suddenly.

The girl burst into a perfect torrent of weeping that shamed him. Then, without any invitation, she flung herself recklessly into his arms and lay there, trembling, palpitating like an imprisoned bird.

"Forgive me, dear," he exclaimed, softly. "I knew better all the time. You mustn't think of doing what they ask; I won't allow it." She looked up with eyes gleaming through her tears and said, brokenly:

"Senor, I love you truly. You see, I cannot lie."

Her breath intoxicated him, and he bent his head to kiss her, but Stephanie tore her roughly from his arms. The woman showed the strength of a man, and her culture-like face was working fiercely as she cried:

"No! She is mine! She is mine! She is a good girl!"

"Oh, I am wicked," Gertrudis said. "I love you, Keerk—yes, I love you very dearly, but my father—he refuses—I must obey—he has the right, and I must do as he wishes."

"Come with me now. We'll be married tonight," he urged, but she only clung to Stephanie more closely, as if to hold herself from falling.

"You are very sweet to me," she said, with piteous tenderness, "and I shall never forget the honor, but you see I cannot. This is more to my father than to his life. It is the same to all our family, and I must do my duty. I could not let you go away thinking this was my doing, so I sent for you. No, one must obey one's people, for they are wise and good. But one should be honest."

The tears were stealing down her cheeks, and she thrilled to his pleadings as to some wondrous music, yet she was like adamant, and all his lover's desperation could not shake her. Seeing that his urging only made matters worse, he said, more gently:

"You are exalted now with the spirit of self sacrifice, but later you will see that I am right. I am not discouraged. A thousand things may happen. Who knows what tomorrow may bring? Let's wait and see if we can't find a way out. Now that I know you love me I have the courage to face anything, and I am going to win you, Chiquita. I have never lost in all my life, and I don't intend to begin now."

"Kiss me once so that I may never forget."

I'll see your father in the morning, and I'll be here again tomorrow night!"

But at this Gertrudis cried out: "No, no! I cannot meet you again in this manner." And Stephanie nodded her agreement.

"Then I'll see you the next night—that is, Saturday. You are coming to the big ball at the Tivoli with him and the Cortlandts. I must see you then, so make sure to be there, and meanwhile don't give up."

"Oh, there is no hope."

"There is always hope. I'll think of something."

"We must go," said the Barbadian woman warningly.

"Yes, yes! Is it of no avail to resist," came the girl's choking voice. She stretched out her little hand, and then, looking up at him, said uncertainly, "I may never speak with you again alone, senor, and I must pray to—cease loving you; but will you—kiss me once, so that I may never forget?"

He breathed a tender exclamation and took her gently to his breast, while the negress stood by scowling and muttering. Even when she and Stephanie had melted into the shadows he stood motionless under the spell of that caress, its ecstasy still suffusing him. Then he turned and made his way up the street, but he went slowly, unseeing, as if he had beheld a vision.

DECLINED INVITATION TO PUT THEM "WISE"

"Nothing to Say," Says Mr. Bryan to Europeans.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Again the United States government has been invited by Europe to do something positive with regard to the Mexican situation, and the invitation has been declined.

The announcement by President Huerta that his government would pass the semi-annual interest payment due on the foreign debt of Mexico has been the occasion for the latest representations to the United States. The governments of Great Britain, France and Germany are particularly concerned over this development, because practically all of the millions in Mexican securities are held by the citizens of those three countries, who will now be deprived of such portion of the income as was derived from such securities.

The representations made by the governments of these countries took the form of calling the attention of Secretary of State Bryan to the official announcement of the default by the Huerta government and an inquiry as to whether the United States was going to do anything about it. Mr. Bryan replied in answer to these inquiries that the president had nothing to communicate to other governments on the subject of Mexico, and there the matter rests for the immediate present.

FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE

Lafayette Man Gets Heavy Penalty for Cruelty to Horse.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 16.—Wilbur G. Moore, against whom the grand jury returned an indictment charging him with cruelty to animals, was found guilty by Judge DeHart and was fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in jail. The evidence showed that Moore kept a horse imprisoned in his barn for nearly twenty years, after it had killed his father in a runaway accident. Mrs. Moore, Wilbur's mother, will be tried on a similar charge. Prosecutor Homer Hennegar testified that the day the horse was taken from the Moore barn by the sheriff, Wilbur G. Moore offered him a bribe of $25 to drop the case. Hennegar said that he ordered Moore out of the office.

THE CASE WAS NONSUITED

Daughter of an Indiana Minister Released in Chicago Court.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Estelle Saylor Keller, twenty-one years old, daughter of the Rev. David Saylor of Lawrenceburg, Ind., returned to her Indiana home after the charge of larceny against her had been nonsuited.

Mrs. Keller, her husband, Robert Keller, and a man named Harry Shoup were arrested, charged with stealing $1,700 worth of goods from department stores. Mrs. Keller's health, according to the prosecutor, is poor, and he urged that the case against her be dropped. The trials of the two men were continued.

His Stomach Troubles Over.

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md.—"I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health."—Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

FOR THE GRIP

Peruna Is Sometimes Used With Good Results

Mrs. Jane Gift.

A great many people use Peruna for the grip. Some use it as soon as the grip begins, taking it during the acute stage of the disease, claiming for it great efficacy in shortening the disease, and especially in shortening the after stages. Many people take it after they have had the grip. Their convalescence is slow. They have suffered along for a month or two, without any signs of complete recovery. Then they resort to Peruna as a tonic, with splendid results.

Mrs. Jane Gift, R. F. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, whose portrait appears above, writes: "I think I would have been dead long ago if it had not been for Peruna. Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon. "One day I picked up the newspaper and accidentally found a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. I told my husband I wanted to try it. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time and was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

Mr. Victor Patneau, 328 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work. "Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again. This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider it a household remedy."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets. Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.

PLANS FOR GO-TO-CHURCH SUNDAY BEING ARRANGED

Committee Has Districted the City and Each Church Is Made Responsible For One Section.

The committee appointed to arrange the plans for Go-to-Church Sunday on February 1 met at the office of the chairman, Dr. L. M. Mains, jr., Friday evening. The plans for a complete canvass of the city were outlined. There are seven churches working together for the observance of Go-to-Church Sunday and the city was divided into seven districts. Each of the churches was made responsible for one of the seven districts. The division of the city and the assignment is as follows:

First ward north of Fifth street, St. Paul's church.

First ward south of Fifth street to the B. & O. S-W. railroad, First M. E. church.

Second ward east of Poplar street, Presbyterian church.

Second ward west of Poplar street, Christian church.

Third ward, Nazarene church.

Fourth ward, First Baptist church.

Fifth ward, German M. E. church.

Each church is to appoint its own committee of any number it deems advisable. These committees are to arrange to visit every house in their district on Sunday afternoon Jan. 25, one week before Go-to-Church Sunday. Personal invitations and cards are to be given and everybody urged to attend the church he prefers on the following Sunday.

The general committee appointed by the pastors to have charge of the plans is as follows: Methodist, L. M. Mains, Jr., chairman; German M. E., Charles A. Hemmer; Nazarene, Walter Darling; St. Paul, F. H. Lemp; Presbyterian, C. D. Billings; Christian, W. H. Reynolds; Baptist, Jay C. Smith.

The movement to observe Go-to-Church Sunday on Feb. 1 is an international plan including all denominations in the United States and Canada. The effort will be made to have every man, woman, and child attend some church on that day.

One town in Ohio is reported to have observed a Go-to-Church Sunday of its own recently when every person but three in town attended church. These three were a policeman, a sick woman and her nurse. Such a record in Seymour would fill every church in the city to its capacity at every service of the day.

Anna Belle's Old Fashioned Sleighride

Dear Friends - I wish you could have been with us in this old-fashioned sleigh of Grandpa's. We had the dandiest time and I'm sure I have the best Grandpa in the world. But my, I know you must think the same of both your Grandma and Grandpa. Of course, my dear Grandma was with us and I hope that yours is as young and jolly as mine seems. She can say the funniest things and can tell the best stories.

If you'll cut the sled on the outside line without outlining the runners you can paste our figures on the side of the sleigh and we'll look as though we're in it. Try this. Next time I'll show you some of the others who went with us.

I wonder if you are one of my friends who hasn't written to me in a long time. Of course, I get lots of letters anyway, but I want yours. Tell me all about what you are doing in school and how your ANNA BELLE SEWING SOCIETY is getting along. Write me care this paper and they will see that I get your letter. So many are sending in such good reports of the progress they are making in Sewing Society work and that makes me very happy. Indeed, help all the poor and needy boys and girls that you can and they will repay you by the light of happiness in their faces. Now I must close for this time, dear friend, asking that you write as often as you possibly can to your loving.
